It's 'here Wii go' for Bizzie Lizzie's competition winner Charlie

Christmas came late – and for a second time - for ten-year-old Charlie Allan when he learned he had won a £200 Nintendo Wii games console and free game, courtesy of the Skipton-based Bizzie Lizzie's Group of fish and chip shops.

The Wii, top of the Christmas 2007 wish list for countless children, was the star prize in a competition organised by the Group's Bizzie B Children's Club at its three shops - Bizzie Lizzie's on Swadford Street, Bizzie's in the High Street Car Park and Eastwoods on Keighley Road.

Charlie, of Sunmoor Drive, Skipton, was over the moon with his coup in the contest, which attracted hundreds of entries from youngsters keen to get their hands on the hottest property in home entertainment.

"The biggest thing I've won up to now is a box of Maltesers," said Charlie, a pupil at Skipton Parish Church School, who is looking forward to Wii battles with his friends.

Bizzie Lizzie's Group general manager Rebecca Lacy said popular seasonal prize competitions for children aged three to 12 years will continue to be run throughout the year. Entry forms for the next contest will soon be available in all three shops.
